OVERWORK —INDUCED— Nervous Prostration Complete Recovery by the Use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine with the best results, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. HINSON, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

FOR ANOTHER'S SIN.
Sir Mortimer Barbican was an old man, one of the old types of English aristocrats—fery, imperious and inordinately proud of the integrity of his name and ancestry. At the time I went into his employ, years ago now, he was living alone with his only daughter at his family seat in Gloucestershire.

A strange looking, tall lady was Miss Linda Barbican, with large, black eyes and pale, hard set features, bearing the traces of some inward sorrow.
Sir Mortimer, I learned, had had a son, whom he had disinherited and disowned, owing to some act which had brought dishonor on the name of Barbican, and he forbade all mention of the scapegrace of the family.

A young man, shabbily dressed, with a reckless albeit a handsome face, stood on the doorstep and scanned me nervously as I looked questioning at him.
"Is my—sir Mortimer Barbican disengaged?" he asked huskily.
"Yes, sir," I answered. "Will you please come in?"
"Is there any one in the library?"
"No, sir."
"Then show me in and tell your master I must see him."
"Very well, sir! What name shall I give?"
"Oh, never mind the name! He'll know me fast enough," he added bitterly.

Sir Mortimer looked up in a surprised way when I communicated to him that a visitor had arrived and wished to see him. He opened the door and strode into the room.
"Father!"
That was all. One short, despairing cry, and father and son stood face to face once more.

A gray, drawn look stole over my master's face as for a brief moment he stared at the prodigal who had so mysteriously reappeared. Then he found his tongue.
"So it is you, you hound!" he said, his features working strangely, while there was a tone of suppressed rage in his voice. "It is you, is it? Have you forgotten how we parted? Have you forgotten, his voice rising ominously, how I cast you off and forbade you ever to step in my house again? Do before I forget myself and whip you out, as you deserve."

"I will speak," cried the younger man. "As there is a God in heaven, I am innocent! But since you will not hear me, I will not try to save you. May it be on your own head, and may you reap as you have sown. But you will have the comforting assurance of knowing that you have sent me to the devil, and I curse you!" And, striding from the room, the younger man passed out into the hall.

I hastened to open the door for him.
As he was passing out into the night he turned.
"You are a stranger to me," he said, after a brief space, "but your face looks like an honest one. If you can contrive it, meet me tomorrow, about this time, at the drive gate. It is a matter of life and death."

The next morning after breakfast Sir Mortimer turned to me and said:
"If you value your situation here, Parkin, you will hear this in mind. Not a word of what you saw and heard last night, and never mention my—my son's name to me again under pain of instant dismissal. That is all."

It was with some feeling of trepidation that I repaired to the trying place that same evening to await the arrival of the dishonored son. Having inquired my name, he began:
"You must first know how I came to be in this plight. Some years ago a forged check in my father's name was discovered. Suspicion at once fell on me, and, though innocent, I was at once branded as guilty by my father. He did not wish to have my family name dragged into court, so he took the easier course of disinheriting me and casting me off entirely. My enemy, whoever he was—and heaven knows I thought I had none worth speaking of—had done his work well. I became a frequenter of the turf, a gambler, and nearly—but, thank heaven, not quite—a thief. I was tempted some few weeks ago to join a band of burglars who contemplated robbing my father's house. But though I had sunk low I was not quite bad enough for that, and, overcome with remorse, I determined to seek an audience with my father and warn him of his danger.
The result of that interview you know, and."

Here he broke off abruptly, a queer break in his voice.
I will pass over the rest of our conversation and merely state the plan which the remorse stricken man had formed to checkmate the robbers.
I must explain that at the back of the house was a courtyard, shut in on three sides by the kitchen premises of the house. It was a small, windowless, but the pantry—which was to be the mode of ingress. Young Mr. Geoffrey—that was the son's name—was to lead the burglars into their enterprise. He would conduct them through the window, and then, with the aid of myself and Sir Mortimer, whom I was to apprise of the robbers' advent, we were to overpower the others, two desperadoes, for they had not wished to have too many concerned in the job.

Friday came, and it was, I am bound to confess, with no slight feelings of apprehension that I looked forward to the work which was before me, for I was not fighting man. Of course I had not mentioned the meditated robbery to the baronet, for that would have spoiled everything.

At 12 o'clock I stole noiselessly down to the kitchen and quietly waited till the burglars should arrive. I had not long to wait. I heard the muffled sound which warned me that they had commenced operations, and, slipping away as noiselessly as I had come, I departed to apprise my master of the outrage on his property.

I found him sitting in his bedroom on a chair, clad in his dressing gown and slippers. His face was buried in his hands, and he was evidently lost in thought. At my entrance he started violently up and, gazed with astonishment, not unmixed with anger, at me, as I in-truded myself on his solitude. I at once came to the point.
"Sir," I said, "there are burglars trying to force an entrance at the back." Now, my master's bedroom was at the extreme wing of the building, so that had it not been for the fact that I already knew of the contemplated robbery, which he would probably have heard nothing of, he would have been granted that he succeeded in reaching the dining room, where the family plate—their object—was secured.

He gazed at me curiously for a few seconds and then calmly walked across the room to his chest of drawers, which he opened, taking therefrom a small revolver, which he slipped into his pocket, handing another to me at the same time.
Sir Mortimer took the lead, and, following close behind him, I noiselessly stole along at his heels. Arrived at the kitchen door, the sounds inside told us we had come at the right moment. The baronet threw open the door. The gas had been lighted, and standing in the middle of the room were the three men, young Mr. Geoffrey, apart from the other two, pallid and haggard looking.

ASKED BY AN INSURANCE COMPANY.
Here are some of the questions which a new insurance company requires to be answered satisfactorily, and the public will agree that there is more reason for them than many of the old queries:
"Do you ride a bicycle? Single or tandem?"
"Do you eat (a) hot cakes, (b) ta-males, (c) mince pie, (d) welsh rabbit, (e) raw onions?"
"Do you swallow grape seeds?"
"Do you ever sleep in a folding bed?"
"Do you smoke (a) cigarettes, (b) nickel cigars?"
"Have you a mother-in-law?"
"Did you ever attempt suicide?"—
San Francisco Post.

Deaths Due to Chloroform.
It is stated that 61 deaths have occurred within the past year in the United Kingdom, of which 52 were from the administration of chloroform. This would be a fearful indictment against the use of that anesthetic if we only knew what was the relative proportion of patients submitted to its influence and to the influence of other anesthetics. In other words, if the number of chloroform cases were 52 times the number of nitrous oxide cases, chloroform would be no more dangerous, although it might have caused 52 deaths for one death caused by the latter anesthetic.—Medi-

SONOMA, APRIL 11, 1896.

There is one question that this paper would like to have answered, and that is: "Why are the roads not repaired at the proper season of the year?"

Santa Rosa's Carnival will occupy the week immediately following the Institute. The preparations that have been made and are being made insure a splendid festival. Prizes have been offered for the best school float. Our High School expects to be awarded the first honor. Sonoma should have a float in the train of Flora, simply to advertise the place if for no other reason.

If the atrocities reported as being committed by the Spaniards in Cuba are true, it is time that the United States, without waiting for outside support, should step into the fuss and protect the rights of humanity. It is said every groan on earth is a chuckle in Hell, so Satan must be much in debt to Spain, and in order that his highness may have the opportunity of showing his esteem for the descendants of Cortez and Pizarro it might be a good plan to shorten their allotted term of life.

Mr. Depew has been wined and dined by the people of this State. He has measured tongues with Gen. Barnes and he has advised us to plant our vines higher and to dig our cellars deeper. The honorable gentleman has also informed us on a matter of etiquette, namely, that gentlemen no longer drink too much at dinner. In consequence of this flat of polite society light wines are in demand. Sonoma can make the best light wines in the United States. Our wine makers should cultivate the acquaintance of Mr. Depew.

In another week the Institute will be with us, and the members of it are to have the best time that they ever have had if the efforts of the citizens of Sonoma Valley are crowned with success. But the citizens also are going to have a treat, for some of the brightest and most learned men of the State are to be here. Professor Martin Kellogg, President of the University of California, will address the Institute on Tuesday evening. The subject of his lecture is not as yet announced. The following evening Professor David Starr Jordan, President of Stanford University and one of the greatest authorities in the United States on fishes, is to entertain us with a lecture on "The Mission of the Pool Killer." Standing as these gentlemen do at the head of educational thought on this coast and representing the best of our civilization, no one should miss the opportunity of hearing them.

REMINGTON. Glen Ellen, April 9th, 1896.

THE Alameda Encinal remarks:

"When you ask a man to subscribe for your paper and he says: 'Oh, I never read much, and besides, times are too plagued tight,' for God's sake apologize and leave him. Life is too short to waste time trying to teach a jackass how to sing soprano. All gentlemen now a days read the newspapers. Show us a man who lives for years in a town or county and never subscribes for the paper published there, and we will show you a man whose head is shaped like a piece of pie, with a point up, and whose ignorance is only exceeded by his gigantic gall. A thorough newspaper is an institution that works day and night for every decent man in the community; therefore, every decent man in the community is in honor bound to assist in its support. The great trouble is that some swell-heads fancy that they are making the editor a present when they take his paper. We have the profoundest sympathy for the man who lives in a place for years and never subscribes for his home paper. If that poor fellow was to encounter an idea in a lane he would turn and fly the other way with the tail of his garment beating the atmosphere. Don't waste much time on such cattle. One of them has not enough common sense to keep warm in hades."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. ## LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Freak of the Wind.

One night last week during the prevalence of a high north wind a new barn on the Catholic Church property was lifted high in the air by the force of the wind and turned completely upside down.

Refreshment Committee.

The following ladies have been appointed by Robt. Poppe, chairman of the Executive Committee, to provide refreshments for the teachers after the concert Monday evening, April 20th: Mrs. H. H. Granice, Chairman; Mrs. Goodman, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Stevenot, Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Ohm, Mrs. McKinnon.

Delegate Chosen.

Fred'k. T. Duhring, on Monday last, was elected a delegate by Sonoma Parlor, No. 111, N. S. G. W., to the Grand Parlor, which convenes in San Luis Obispo on April 27th. Mr. Duhring is one of Sonoma's representative Native Sons and one of our foremost business men.

Recovering from His Recent Illness.

City Trustee Bulotti, who was injured several weeks ago by falling off a bench while hanging a canary bird cage in his house, is slowly improving. He is now able to be up and around. His neck was badly strained by the fall which was only about three feet.

Trout Fishing.

A large number of city and local anglers, who had been looking ahead for several months to a days sport in the trout streams near town, were compelled to remain in-doors last Sunday on account of the rain, which continued to fall throughout the day. Since the rain, which caused the creeks to raise considerable, a large number of trout have been running up stream and in consequence fishing will be good this spring.

An Ancient Spanish Coin.

J. E. Poppe on Thursday last, while excavating on the Poppe place back of the Small residence on Napa street, unearthed an ancient Spanish coin of the denomination of two reals, worth about 25 cents in American money. The coin bears the date of 1721 and was coined during the reign of Carlos IV. It was evidently brought to Sonoma by the missionary fathers. Mr. Poppe prizes his find very highly.

Fine Cigars.

Michalitschke Bros. & Co., of San Francisco, the well-known dealers in imported and domestic cigars, tobacco and cigarettes, through their commercial traveler, Mr. Carl Rosenthal, have secured quite a Sonoma trade for their excellent goods. They are selling the best cigars for the money that we have ever smoked. See their ad in another column and when you call for a "smoker" be sure and ask for those sold by this old and reliable firm. They are kept at all the hotels and saloons in town with one or two exceptions.

Value of Advertising.

W. F. Wade & Co., of 408 Kearny street, San Francisco, manufacturers of portraits, pictures, frames, mouldings, etc., placed an ad. in these columns a few months ago, paying for the same six months in advance. On Saturday last Mr. Wade, the senior member of the firm and who resides in this place, dropped into our sanctum and congratulated the INDEX-TRIBUNE on the value of its advertising space. He stated that the ad. had paid for itself ten times over, and that the investment in Sonoma's local paper was the best he ever made. Mr. Wade's firm is one of the most reliable in the metropolis and they guarantee everything they sell. For the accommodation of Sonoma Valley people who desire anything in their line Mr. Wade has on exhibition at his home on Napa street over one hundred different samples of moulding and any number of framed pictures. To the people of this town and vicinity we would say, if you want anything in W. F. Wade & Co.'s line and desire a first-class article at less than city cost you should call upon or address Mr. Wade.

THE NORDIN SUIT.

A COMPROMISE EFFECTED AT LAST.

Mrs. Nordin Takes the Property—The Dr. Accepts $1000 and Gets Out.

The civil suit instituted several months ago in the Superior Court of this county by Mrs. Dr. J. A. Nordin to compel her husband to deed back to her the Agua Caliente Hot Springs property, has at last come to an end.

On Wednesday last a compromise was effected between man and wife, whereby Dr. Nordin in consideration of $1,000 transfers the property back to Mrs. Nordin, who assumes all indebtedness that had accrued before and after the suit was instituted.

The suit was the outcome of a disagreement between husband and wife and was a most unfortunate thing for this valley.

Dr. and Mrs. Nordin came here about a year ago and purchased the property, which had been fearfully run down, for $12,000. They then spent about $15,000 in improvements. The hotel was remodelled, the grounds beautified, swimming baths constructed and the hotel was newly furnished throughout.

After spending nearly $30,000, which sum represented Mrs. Nordin's private fortune when she married the doctor about two years ago, the wife conveyed by deed the entire property over to her husband.

About this time the sanitarium was thrown open to the public and gave promise of proving a paying investment. However, in less than a month after Dr. Nordin had come into possession his wife regretted deeding the property to him and demanded that he deed it back to her. This she refused to do, a violent quarrel ensued and Mrs. Nordin left him and at once instituted the suit that has been compromised.

It has been a costly suit on both sides and has almost ruined Mrs. Nordin, but with proper management the Agua Caliente Hot Springs Resort may yet regain for the unfortunate woman the fortune which she has invested in Sonoma Valley's health and pleasure resort.

THE REPUBLICANS.

A HARMONIOUS GATHERING OF DELEGATES.

Those Chosen to Represent the Party at Sacramento.

The Republican County Convention, to choose delegates to Sacramento, met at Union Hall in this place last Thursday morning. Over one hundred delegates out of the 137 were present in person and took a lively interest in the proceedings.

The Convention was called to order by Chairman M. K. Cady and C. H. Pond of Healdsburg was elected Secretary.

The following committees were appointed by the Chairman: Credentials—Hon. J. C. Holloway, J. M. Cheney, Oscar Murphy, Robt. Brown and E. F. Woodward; Platform and Resolutions—C. E. McKinlay, Lyman Green, W. F. Price, G. Vancill and W. S. Staley; Order of Business—A. G. Burnett, John Burroughs, Samuel Cassidy, John Williams and L. A. Norton.

The Committee on Platform and Resolutions strongly endorsed McKinley for President and A. B. Leamon for delegate to the National Convention.

After the various committees had reported the convention resolved itself into two Assembly districts to choose nineteen delegates. The following were elected to go to Sacramento:

Sixteenth Assembly District—Harrison Meacham, Lyman Green and Robert Brown, Petaluma; J. B. Wattles, C. H. Pond and L. A. Norton, Mendocino Township; W. F. Price, Analy Township; W. F. Graham, Redwood Township; W. Orr, Ocean and Salt Point Townships.

Seventeenth Assembly District—J. C. Holloway, Cloverdale; Geo. O. Campbell and W. S. Staley, Sonoma; E. F. Woodward, M. V. Vanderhoof, W. J. Ragsdale, J. M. Streining, J. F. Smith and C. E. McKinlay, Santa Rosa.

The Supervisors

The Board met at the Court House, Santa Rosa, on Tuesday at 9 o'clock, pursuant to adjournment, all the members being present.

The following road bills were passed by the Board: P. H. Thompson, Lakeville, $245.60; Sonoma, $436.07; Penn's Grove, $73.30. J. W. Hall, Fulton $621.22; Russian River, $550.15; Santa Rosa, $522.35. E. W. Hayden, Marin, $209.90; Petaluma, $438.32; Sebastopol, $373.93. Jacob Joost, Redwood, $141.45; Freestone, $236.25; Occidental, $61.65; Fort Ross, $139.70. E. S. Gray, Healdsburg, $230.63; Cloverdale, $121; Mendocino, $108.80; Knights Valley, $154.40; Washington, $99.55.

In the afternoon the carnival committee, consisting of Mrs. L. W. Burris, Mrs. E. F. Woodward, Miss Isabella Donovan and J. C. Sims, appeared before the Board to ask for an appropriation for the decoration of the court house for the Rose Carnival. Protests had been made by people at Healdsburg and towards Petaluma against allowing the appropriation.

Mr. Sims addressed the Board, and in a few words made known to the members the object of their visit and explained the position taken by the carnival directors in asking of the Board enough money to decorate the court house in a befitting manner.

The Board, he said, had power to appropriate money for the purpose of advertising the county; the carnival is one of the greatest advertisements the county has ever got, and although primarily the money asked for would be spent for decorations, it would aid the advertising the county would get.

He took pains to show this was strictly a county affair. Notification had already been received of floats entered from Occidental and Cloverdale and every part of the county has been requested to participate. As a matter of expediency he urged upon the Board the necessity of decorating the building in keeping with the other buildings and assured the Board that were it not for the fact the buildings were county buildings and no one more properly could be asked to decorate them than the owner, the Board would never have been troubled with the request for an appropriation.

The Board took the matter under advisement.

Poor Indeed!

There are degrees and kinds of poverty, just as there are differences of opinion among those who compute and measure poverty and riches by different standards. Some men deem themselves poor because they are less rich than others, again there are comparatively poor people who are satisfied with a competence. There is a kind of poverty for which no amount of wealth can compensate, namely, a poverty of bodily stamina, evinced by nervousness and a derangement of the functions of digestion, bilious secretions and the bowels. To restore vigor upon a permanent basis there is one remedy that fully covers the requirements, "fills the bill," and this is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. By restoring digestion, giving a healthful impulse to the action of the bowels and liver and tranquillizing the nerves, it fulfills the condition necessary to a resumption of strength by the system. It also overcomes malaria and rheumatism.

BANISHED FOR LIFE.

THE OUTCAST OF CHURCH ISLAND IN GREAT SALT LAKE.

He Has For Years Lived the Life of a Wild Man and Rarely Sees a Human Being. Branded For Robbing the Dead by Order of Governor Brigham Young.

In the center of the Great Salt Lake in Utah is a large body of land known as Church Island. This land consists of mountains and valleys with trees and vegetation, and has always been used as a herding ground for cattle belonging to the Mormon church. Several years ago the water on the east side of the island was shallow and cattle could be driven across easily, but now the water is deep and everything must be conveyed to and from the land in boats. A distance of about five miles covered with salt water must be gone over by canoes to get to or from the island. On this famous spot, amid millions of pelicans, sea gulls and other fowls, wanders a lonely old man, without clothing and devoid of language or any of the instincts of humanity. He was banished years ago by the Mormon church on the charge of robbing the dead.

Jean Baptiste was a Frenchman who came to Salt Lake City a young man nearly 40 years ago. He grew up among the saints, and, after marrying, was made sexton of the small cemetery. His duties were light and his remuneration correspondingly small. He resided in a little cabin on the mountain side overlooking the city and spent his time when not employed in the cemetery, in collecting junk and trading and trafficking with a few Jewish second-hand clothes dealers who had the hardihood to engage in business among the Mormons. A regiment of United States troops was then camped near the city, and the gentlemen engaged in business were assured protection.

The little Frenchman was an avicious man and was noticeable because of his picking up every cast away article and carrying it to his home. Old dry goods boxes, barrels, tin cans and other packing articles cast away by the soldiers were especially well cared for by Jean Baptiste, the sexton. He dressed as a scavenger and resembled the modern saloon keeper, who is always searching the slums for barrels and boxes of garbage and cast off garments. The actions of the sexton created some comment, and not a little curiosity was aroused among people who had occasion to visit his residence on the mountain side, over the city.

One day Jean appeared on the streets dressed in an elegant suit of broadcloth. A few days before a wealthy stranger had died and was buried in the cemetery. The suit in which the body was dressed resembled that worn by the sexton. An examination was ordered, and the corpse was found to have been robbed of its clothing. A committee waited upon the sexton and made a most startling discovery. The graveclothes of over 200 persons were found in the baskets and boxes stowed away in his ghoulish cabin. Excitement ran high in Salt Lake City. The boxes of clothing were emptied and the contents taken to the city hall, where many a fond mother identified the burial robes of her child. Elegant silk dresses, at that time a luxury even to the rich, were found in the various trunks. The man was arrested and cast into jail, pursued by a mob who sought his life.

Brigham Young, then governor and general dictator in Utah, ordered the man to be branded with a hot iron and banished to Church Island. During the quiet hour of midnight Jean Baptiste was taken from the jail, and his whole forehead was scored with the following inscription: "Branded For Robbing the Dead." Two men escorted the quivering, naked form from the city of vengeance. A canoe was entered near the city, and the doomed prisoner was taken in chains to the island which in future was to be his home. Without clothing or food he was landed upon the shore, the boat returned to the mainland, and the ghoul remained a hopeless exile. He could not leave the island, because instant death would follow should he be seen by any of the inhabitants of the Mormon land of Zion. He was forced to seek food and shelter amid wild animals, the birds and reptiles.

The island was soon known as the land of banishment. People shunned its shores as they would a haunted house. Many persons were lost upon the lake while rowing in canoes against heavy winds. The general suspicion of all was that those unfortunates drifted to the island and were devoured by the wild man. Even the fearless cowboy has ever refused to intrude upon the home land of the exile. Wild horses roam over its acres of broken canyons, rugged cliffs and grassy meadows. The sea gulls and other birds find a home undisturbed on the deserted shores. All the natives, including Indians, warn newcomers of the fate of scores of pleasure seekers who have been drifted upon the shores of the fated island. The crags, bluffs, dark caverns and lonely canyons warn every boatman nearing the shore to keep away from the hidden dangers.

In a dark cave about half a mile from the shore lives the wild man. His home is strewn with the wrecks of boats, bones of victims and other cannibalistic indications. Away back in the deep darkness of the cavern is his sleeping place, made of clothing stripped from unfortunate victims shipwrecked on the fatal shore. A collection of leaves, grasses and branches from the trees of the island forms the foundation for the bed, in which this human monster spends most of his time. Several hunters and explorers have recently viewed the man. He is described as old, stooping, destitute of clothing, incapable of speech and covered with long hair. Upon the appearance of man he utters a wild, weird shriek and rushes to the cavern, from which he cannot be induced or forced to return.—San Francisco Examiner.

Office of McDougall & Ballantyne, Messrs. Lippman Bros., Savannah, Ga.

EXPLANATION:—I beg to say my testimonials to the great virtues of Joy's P. P. I have suffered for years with Rheumatism and could get no relief from any source but a couple of courses of your P. P. and it has cured me entirely. I most heartily recommend it to all sufferers. Yours truly,

T. BALLANTYNE,
of McDougall & Ballantyne.

There is much good in the world, and there is much that is evil; but we frequently find evil where we expect to find good, and good where we expect to find evil.

DYSPEPSIA.

R. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have taken your Vegetable SARSAPARILLA and can say I have never seen anything equal to it. I have suffered ten years with dyspepsia, not being able to eat anything but milk and brown bread. Life was nothing but misery for me.

Now I have a good appetite, can eat anything I wish and feel no disagreeable effects from it. I wish to tell all dyspeptics and urge them to try your Vegetable SARSAPARILLA. Signed,

MR. JOHN TIMOTHY,
Forsyth, Cal.

If you want to get a spring medicine without a blotch, an oil-scurvy or a red mark, a big patch of red pimples, take Joy's Vegetable SARSAPARILLA.

It is alleged that a law is in force in Michigan requiring every fruit package to be plainly marked on the outside with letters and figures showing its capacity. This is right and clearly in the interest of honest dealing in fruit.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION.

R. W. JOY COMPANY—Gentlemen: I have suffered from a nervous prostration from financial losses. Can say Joy's Vegetable SARSAPARILLA has cured me. My liver, stomach and bowels have been very inactive but taking your remedy I am eating well. All business men and women should use it. Please publish. Signed,

MR. WM. HENRY JONES,
Butte, Montana.

Backache, dizziness, tiredness give way to Joy's Vegetable SARSAPARILLA.
